Roosevelt High School

August 2008

Dear Parents, Students and Friends of Theodore Roosevelt High School,

Theodore Roosevelt High School will open its doors to yet another school year in just a few short weeks! While our warm August weather has been comfortable, summer is drawing to a close and many of our students are back for band, athletic practice, or other student activities. The high school is back up and running at the hands of our fine custodial and maintenance staff. Their efforts have been outstanding in preparing our building for students and teachers.

As always, I would like to welcome everyone to a new school year, especially families of incoming ninth graders, and those families new to our school district. Roosevelt has had a long tradition of educational excellence and seeks to serve the needs of students in a very supportive environment. We hope you share our pride and excitement in being part of this wonderful school. As you read this Branching Out, we hope it will serve as one of the primary communication links for you and your family with the greater school community. We continue to work at keeping it informative, responsive, and comprehensive.

Each month the cover letters seek to give you my best thinking about school and learning, current trends in our school, issues that impact our students and families, and thoughts about how student learning can best be accomplished in our ever-changing complex world. More importantly, we try and share thoughts on what we are hearing from parents, students, and teachers to stimulate your own thoughts about school related topics. Your feedback is encouraged and welcomed either orally or written! The remainder of the newsletter provides you with important calendar dates, program reviews, recognition of students, and overviews of the many activities related to the high school experience. We hope all of the information will be helpful throughout the school year!

The formal opening of the 2008-2009 school year will follow this format:

- On Wednesday August 27, only incoming ninth graders and students in all grades new to our district will report to school. The day will begin at 7:35 a.m. in our auditorium and the students will be in attendance the entire day, dismissing at 2:34 p.m.
- On Thursday August 28, all students-grades 9, 10, 11, & 12- will report to school and be in attendance for the entire day. The day will begin with First Period classes at 7:35 a.m. and end at 2:34 p.m.

Student schedules will be mailed out the week of August 11. An updated schedule will be available to all students upon arrival to school on the first day.

The 2008--2009 school year opens again during a period of some anxiety in our country and world. With a presidential election just a couple of months away, students are inundated with a variety of images and concepts in the media. Part of our role as parents and educators is to help our students make some sense of what they are hearing and seeing, encouraging them to think on their own, challenge points of view, and form their own conclusions with sound reasoning. What makes that difficult, at times, is our own emotional predisposition to the very issues confronting our young people. Learning, however, rarely (if ever) occurs in a vacuum. I believe this school year will provide the many adults in their lives with the opportunity to have quality conversations with young people, examine what they are learning in school, and encourage them to apply their knowledge to helping the world around them.

So, after a restful summer, the new school year begins! As always, students will bring their hopes and dreams, their anxiety and fears, their youth and exuberance, and their energy and talents to the classrooms of TRHS. Our goal will be to help them grow into thoughtful, educated, and caring adults. To this end, we pledge our efforts and seek to partner with parents in support of their student. Please, never hesitate to call our school (673-9595) or my home on evenings and weekends (678-3381), or e-mail me at ke\_rsidoti@kentschools.net if you need help or you just need to talk with someone about a school related issue.

I hope this Branching Out finds you and your family relaxed, rested, healthy and safe.

Dear Student:

The new school year is fast approaching. The Guidance Department is looking forward to working with you to help make this year a most productive and rewarding one.

Enclosed is your class schedule for the 2008-2009 school year. If, as a result of one of the five reasons identified below you find it necessary to adjust your schedule, please fill out the Schedule Change Request on the back of this letter and bring in/mail to the Guidance Office no later than Monday, August 25, 2008:

1. Remove a course on present schedule because the course was taken during summer school.
2. Add a course during a free period (class size permitting); or balance semester courses to allow for a study hall each semester
3. Drop an elective semester course(s) to add a study hall (note: a student is permitted no more than one study hall a semester).
4. Required course failed; not taken during summer school; need to add.
5. Computer error on schedule.

We will make every attempt to honor your schedule change, but realize that conflicts, class size, etc. may negate your request.

Remember, not all course requests made in February are reflected on your schedule as some courses were cancelled and/or scheduling conflicts with the master schedule occurred. In those instances, if we were unable to make a contact with you, we have either tried to select a similar but alternative course that would fit in your schedule, or assigned you to a study hall. For some students, the present class conflict is printed at the top of your class schedule and you should contact your school counselor immediately to resolve the conflict together.

The following courses listed in our Student Registration Guide for the 2008-2009 school year are not offered due to low student enrollment interest:

Advance Latin I	AT Research	Writing Improvement	Making a Life Plan
AT College Physics	AP Calculus BC	Reading Improvement	Design Your Future II
