

DUNGEONS & DRAGONS CLUB

What is it?

Dungeons and Dragons as a tabletop RPG (role playing game). You get to build your own character and work with your “party” to solve puzzles and defeat enemies set by your DM (dungeon master).

Do I need to know how to play? Who can come?

No! I will teach you everything. Everyone is welcome.

What do I need?

Just bring yourself! I will have polyhedral dice and character tokens for you to share. If you want your own personal dice, they are inexpensive and can be found online and in stores like Off The Wagon (in Kent) and Empire Games (in Streetsboro). You will also find character miniatures in stores and online. I will also have some copies of the player’s handbook and modules- but if you have your own, bring them!

How many people are in a party?

The optimal number is 4-5 player characters (PCs) per DM (Dungeon Master). WE NEED MORE DMS to make this work. If you have friends or siblings at the high school who may want to DM, have them email me! RButler02@kentschools.net More DMs= More possible players

When and where is it?

D&D club will be every Monday immediately after school until 5pm in Stanton’s Media Center. From March 16th until May 18th.
